

Position statement on COVID-19

AFIS is taking a range of precautionary measures to support our employees and clients during the COVID-19 (Coronavirus) pandemic. We are actively working within the statutory requirements and recommendations issued by the Federal and State Governments from time to time relevant to operation within the COVID-19 (Coronavirus) environment.

While some of our team may work from home, we are confident we are appropriately managing risk across the company and so we are able to continue to fulfil our statutory obligations and commitments to our clients.

AFIS is highly conscious of the impact COVID-19 is having on our clients and businesses generally and has adjusted the focus of our service and activities accordingly.

Clients, staff and stakeholders can be assured that during these challenging times AFIS continues to deliver a high quality product and will maintain absolute priority on the health and safety of any person who has contact with the company.

Yours Sincerely,

Graeme Dossetor
